

Coastlink at Multimodal again

As Europe's roads become ever more congested, short sea shipping is becoming an increasingly attractive, cost effective and environmentally sustainable alternative to long distance international road haulage.

Coastlink is Europe's largest shortsea shipping networking organisation. It brings together manufacturers and retailers, port authorities, terminal operators, shipping companies and equipment and service providers to promote short sea container shipping, discuss the issues facing the industry, and improve awareness of the benefits amongst politicians and transport infrastructure planners.

A major annual conference, together with spring and/or autumn conferences, brings together professionals from across the industry and provides major networking opportunities.
